The venue comes in just under $5k ($4995) so with a 20% gratuity of $90 for the Ukulele stroller (Server gratuity already included, not entertainment) that puts us at a remaining balance of $3,710 in our budget.

I am good w/Aloha and the menu as long as we come in under the $20K mark "all in". I don't recall what the total amount for the venue was, but adding all this to it, assuming we have enough remaining for drinks, santa (if we're doing that) and xmas tree decorating stuff?

Subject: Holiday Party update

Hi team!

Passing along an update

- I haven't heard back from Serve All yet. I sent them a follow up this morning when I realized they still haven't answered.
- Attached is the adjusted from Aloha with changes we spoke about.

- Below are answers from Paradise Cove on the concerns with the contract. We do not need the insurance and if we pay the remaining via check then we can avoid the 3% fee all-together (it is not charged on the deposit).

If I don't hear from Serve All soon I'm thinking Aloha is preferred. The cost is higher but we get a lot more with it (more food, more service & setup, & ukulele entertainment).

Let me know your thoughts!

Hi

We waive the 3% convenience fee with the initial deposit. It will be line itemed and added for the final payment if you are looking to pay with card again.

As for the insurance, this is for our caterer/bartender. Since you will be selecting a caterer through us (and have no bar) this is taken care as all of the catering companies have us additionally insured.

Let me know if you have any additional questions!

Best,

Hi Olivia!

I wanted to reach out with a couple of questions that came up from items on the contract for clarification:

-The first is about the 3% credit card fee. I wasn't sure if that was included in the total already since I had said we would be paying by card or if the total needs to be adjusted.

-The second question is concerning the insurance. We are not serving any alcohol at our event, I'm a little unclear on what or if we need to provide anything concerning insurance coverage? Could you clarify that for me.

Thank you,

Congrats! You are officially booked! 😊

Please see attached for your payment confirmation. If you have any questions or updates please let me know, I would love to be of assistance!

Happy planning! •
